A Review of The Systematization of the Archival Material of the Personal Fonds of Vojislav Jovanovic Marambo

Summary

The text encompasses the voluminous archival material of the personal fonds of Vojislav Jovanovic Marambo (1884–1968), our distinguished historian of spoken and written literature, translator, publicist, bibliographer, script writer and satirist, archivist, diplomat, author of anthologies of literature and reading books, and, above all, passionate collector of books and bibliophile. The material is kept at the Department for National Literature of the University Library “Svetozar Markovic” within the Vojislav Jovanovic Legacy in Birčaninova street in Belgrade. The material, after detailed insight into its structure and content, has been sorted based on a classification plan including seven groups: personal documents, property and legal documents of the author of the fonds, property and legal documents of the family of the author of the fonds, documents of activities, correspondence, documents of relatives of the author of the fonds and excerpts. The basic principle applied while implementing the systematization of the material was forming a case by grouping documents into thematic and semantic entities. The continuous work of the librarians of the legacy of Vojislav Jovanovic Marambo at researching and publicizing the entirety of his manuscripts of the fonds and at writing and publishing scientific and research resources was of exceptional significance for getting the public familiar with the work of this unjustifiably neglected scientific worker and, thus, the significance for scientific research in many fields.
